A few reflections on the season past, the Capital Campaign, and what’s ahead:

Once again Christikon was blessed with an extraordinary group of staff people. This year two-thirds of the group was new, and of them the majority had just finished their first or second year of school, so overall a younger group. To say that they “brought it” is an understatement. This staff surpassed expectations, went above and beyond, and consistently and gracefully welcomed guests into this intentional Christian community.

Highlights of the season include:

• Construction and installation of a new bell tower, courtesy of Darren Paulson (former staffer and pastor of Atonement Lutheran in Billings).

• Former Staff Reunion (every three years) that welcomed 80-plus back up the Boulder River Valley.

• Trails groups from all over the state, Midwest and Pacific Northwest. Each session was near or at capacity, and the majority of groups bumped right up to our 15-person Forest Service limit.

• Fall construction that marked the beginning of Phase 1 of our Capital Campaign (more on that below).

• Two large retreat groups (one a group of student leaders from Rocky Mountain College in Billings, and the other a large family-and-friends reunion that has met up the Boulder since 1960) that filled camp after the regular season ended. Seven staff people stayed on an additional 10 days to host these groups.

Just as the regular season ended, we welcomed to camp a crew from Fisher Construction. During the past eleven weeks they’ve demolished the interior of both the South Bathhouse and Blackfoot Lodge, and then reconfigured them to provide better hospitality and increase available meeting space from small and large groups. At this writing they just completed Phase One of our Capital campaign, and soon we'll shut down the last buildings, turn off the pump, and tuck Christikon in for a long winter's nap.

Included in this edition are pictures from various parts of the project that hopefully provide a better sense of "before and after" status. We are excited to be at this point, and eagerly anticipate putting both spaces to use next season. During a tour in late September, Pastor Phil Wold of our leadership board made the comment regarding Blackfoot that we probably can't even anticipate yet all the ways we might put it to use. I think he's right, and look forward to the options it opens up.

Volunteer spotlight

During one of our August retreats, Julie Berve (longtime friend of Christikon and wife of current board member Jim Berve) answered a call to volunteer for the retreats. While there she approached me with the idea to extend her time throughout the fall. With construction beginning and crews living at camp four days a week, Julie thought she might provide food for them so, as she put it, they could "put all their attention on the projects instead of meal prep."

Needless to say she was a huge gift to both Christikon and the various construction crews up this fall. Julie is an excellent cook — one of the guys joked he was happy with all the walking required around camp as it helped him keep from gaining 50 pounds.

Julie came up Monday mornings in time to provide lunch that day, and stayed through lunch on Thursdays. As she ended her service, Julie had this to say about her experience:

I wasn't sure how I'd feel driving down the road the last time after being chief, cook and bottle washer. To be honest, I'm elated. It was a great experience and I'd do it again. ..., Christikon has a way of drawing everyone who has the opportunity to experience it into Christ, in one way or another. This was an experience I will always remember, and for the most part, treasure.

As you might imagine, she became closer to the Fisher crew in the past two months, and they were very appreciative of her efforts.

We express our profound thanks to Julie for her gift to camp and the Capital Campaign.

— Mark
It is my great honor to serve as the chair of the Mapping the Future Campaign to raise crucial funds for Christikon. While I was not a Christikon camper myself, some of my fondest memories growing up are from my Lutheran camp experiences in Canada. The impact that had on me at such a young age formed the foundation of my faith ever since.

After moving to Billings and becoming part of the Lutheran community here, I learned about Christikon and knew that I wanted my own kids to have access to those same formative experiences. Both of our boys attended camp from elementary school through high school and benefited greatly from their time there and still maintain relationships they built with campers from all over the country.

A couple of years ago when the board started discussions about what we need to do to continue the legacy of Christikon, I was eager to be part of fortifying its future. Two years into the planning and one year since the campaign's announcement, I'm proud and humbled to share the overwhelming support already shown by our community — support that reinforces that the love for Christikon runs deep and stretches across the country.

To date $511,193 has been generously pledged toward our goal, with $229,527 in hand. And with that generosity, we have already concluded construction of phase one of our project! In honor of the 100-year anniversary of the construction of Blackfoot Lodge, it has been completely restored and given new life to serve as a multi-purpose space for countless event and fellowship opportunities. In addition to Blackfoot, the south bath house has been completely transformed as a more functional, efficient facility that will serve both camper and family needs for many years to come.

With this strong momentum, we are excited to continue our journey toward our $1 million goal and the final two phases of the project. Your continued support and prayers will be essential in mapping the future of our beloved camp.

With much gratitude,
Shaun Seedhouse

Two outgoing board members look back on their tenure

Paul: What have you enjoyed most about being on the Board?

Meredith: The thing I have enjoyed most about being on the Christikon Board of Directors has to be the people. I have met some of the coolest, most interesting people in my ten years on the board. I enjoy seeing the board members at each meeting as well as the retreat at Chico each winter. We are all so different, and from all of these walks of life, and yet at our core we love camp. The place, the programming, and the people. And that we, all of us together, get to be such a part of the process of introducing kids and adults alike to such a place. It’s been such a blessing in my life!

Here’s my question for you: How did you get introduced to Christikon? I would also like to hear your favorite part of being on the board?

Paul: My first experience with Christikon was probably around 1980 shortly after moving to Billings. My three sons and I were exploring the Boulder and wound up camping at Hick’s Park. Christikon was next door, so we visited it and met the director, a young man named Bob Quam. We crossed paths many times in the ensuing years, and three of my four kids and at least four of our grandchildren have gone to Christikon. I think we have helped with at least a few work weekends. At any rate, nine years ago Bob called and asked if I cared to be on the board. I remember asking him, “If I do, does that mean I have to ask people for money?” He dodged the question.

I agree that the best part of the Board is the people. Four or five of the board members are Lutheran pastors, and it turns out they are entertaining and interesting people. I guess it goes with the job. I’ve been on a few other boards where I dreaded the meetings, but not so with Christikon. Virtually all the members are enthusiastic and eager to help in almost any way they can.

Meredith: Good question! I think Christikon is just the best camp ever. Growing up in Minnesota, Land of the Lutherans, I had attended other Lutheran Bible Camps and even worked at one for two summers. Christikon is unique in so many ways … for one, the location is unlike any other. For this flatlander from Minnesota my first visit took my breath away — literally and figuratively! And the programming is unlike anything I had experienced. It’s very contemplative and engaging at the same time. I also appreciate the music we sing at camp. If you have spent time at other camps you know we are different from other things being offered. I know as a camper I was blown away by it all and knew I had to come back as a counselor. I loved everything about it. I think we do a great job of meeting campers where they are and engaging them with God’s word through song, discussions, and activities. It’s just an amazing, special place. It’s been such a privilege to be a part of it. If you had told me when I was a camper in the late 1980s that I would live in Bozeman someday and be on the Christikon Board of Directors I doubt I would’ve believed you. That trip, that backpack, literally changed the trajectory of my life.

Guests prepare for worship in the meadow this summer.

What are your thoughts?

Paul: I was involved in a one-week summer camp for families with cancer that we had down the road at Camp on the Boulder for about 10 years, and at that camp miraculous things happened. I call it the “camp experience,” which is what is supposed to happen when a group of strangers get to know one another in a camp setting.

Christikon takes this camp experience to another level by adding great leadership, programming, and quality counselors in a setting that is truly unique. One of our camp’s biggest assets isn’t listed on our financial statements. It’s “wilderness” in the sense of unspoiled nature. Almost everyone agrees that God is more easily felt or seen in this setting, and I think Christikon uses this asset extremely well, especially through the backpack treks to the Lake Plateau.

That’s why we have churches, campers, and counselors coming back year after year. And also why we have so many loyal donors who contribute year after year.

I’m going to miss being on the board. Maybe they’ll ask us again someday.

Meredith: I will miss it, too and would absolutely say “yes” again!

Paul Kelker and Meredith Johnson both served on Christikon’s board for 9 years.
2018 Spring benefit auction

Quilts and a whole lot more: the annual Spring fund raising event at the Billings Depot on April 29 offered bidders a wide range of items in both Silent and Live Auctions, and raised significant support to undergird Christikon’s summer ministry.

Auction activity, ticket sales, food line contributions and underwriting raised over $32,000 to support Christikon’s ongoing work. A special Sojourners Auction raised an additional $11,385 to help make possible our special “Sojourners Camp” for at-risk youth. We hosted 12 youth in Sojourners this year.

The work and artistry of so many people went into the Benefit Auction. Our thanks to:
